

I loved to hop to it..

READING the letter from Gladys Clarke from Essex in your Remember When section (April 11) brought back lovely memories of when we went hop-picking at Bodiam, East Sussex, in the 1940s.

The hop farm was owned by Arthur Guinness of the famous Irish Guinness

Remember When

family. We really loved the work and we were terribly upset when we had to return home to our families.

We knew happiness back then. My maiden name was Dowsett. I wonder if anyone still remembers me?

Lily Smith, Harlow, Essex

WRITE: Your Letters, Daily Mirror, One Canada Square, London E14 3AP EMAIL: mailbox@mirror.co.uk FAX: 020 7293 3975 TEXT: DMMAILBOX followed by your comments to 84080